PERFECT AMINO ELECTROLYTES PROVIDES:

Everything lost when your body sweats – including protein!

Getting the absolute most from every workout means optimizing. It's what BodyHealth products do. A key factor in any workout is hydration and maintaining adequate amounts of minerals, salt potassium in your body before, during and after a workout. So why should your electrolyte be any different?

Hydration is more than just water and electrolytes – it should be a complete solution and include what you need to recover – so you can not only perform at your peak levels, but get recharged in time for the next workout. This performance cycle is so important that those that can make it a habit of supplementing at the right times with the right supplement can get the edge on those who do not. And that edge can make the difference in your splits, your times or your speed.

We've developed PerfectAmino Electrolyte to optimize your hydration. It's more than just another electrolyte – it's a complete electrolyte with PerfectAmino – giving your body the hydration and perfect protein building boost it needs to stay in the workout, race and competition longer, and recover faster.

What's in PerfectAmino Electrolyte

- 300mg of Sodium – One of the most important electrolytes, mostly related to fluid and water regulation.
- 250mg of Potassium – Responsible for the functioning of excitable tissues such as skeletal and cardiac muscle and nerves.
- 50mg of Magnesium – Involved in over 600 cellular reactions from making DNA to helping your muscles contract.
- 80mg of Trace Minerals – Used by the body for various functions, including keeping your bones, muscles, heart and brain working properly.
- 2mg of Zinc – Helps make proteins and DNA, bolstering the immune system and helping to heal wounds.
- 2000mg of PerfectAmino – Containing all 8 essential amino acids, PerfectAmino is optimized to make body protein, build muscles, repair injuries, speed recovery and more.
